A drawing from a 1904 Auburn yearbook shows the academy that was used as our first high school.

honoring the past

The first building used for a high school in Auburn was built in 1858 where the Eckhart Public Library now stands. Twenty years later a new building was built and served as a high school until it was converted to a junior high in 1920. This building, torn down in 1956 was replaced by the McKenney Junior High School at the same location. The McIntosh High School building with which we are most familiar was completed and ready for use in 1920. Since 1960, extensive remodeling has brought us language and science labs, a chorus and band room, a shop, and a library. Now Auburn High School ends its 111th year by graduating the Class of 1967. The last Follies honors the memory of AHS while anticipating progress to come. The purpose of the Follies of 1967 has been to record the events of a year of transition: a year of honoring the past and building for the future.

Known by many students as the "old junior high," this building was occupied by high school students from 1876-1920.

Posing for its last Follies photograph, McIntosh High School observes the departure of the final AHS student body.

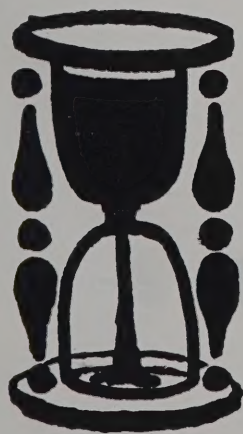

Construction still underway in this photograph, the new DeKalb High School will educate some 1150 students from the former Auburn, Ashley, and Waterloo school districts.

"Stairway to the Stars"—Homecoming 1966—was held in mid-October during the half of the Auburn-Snider football game. The crowning ceremony took place before the Auburn grandstand, as the band formed a stairway in the background. Elaine Miller was crowned homecoming queen by a bedraggled football player who was, in reality, the senior class president, Kenny Scott. The court included Leslie Mavis and Jeanne Turner, senior attendants; Carman Hagerty, junior attendant; Debbie Westland, sophomore attendant; and Becky Clement, freshman attendant.

After the crowning ceremony, the queen and her court took their positions on the float, a masterpiece assembled by the senior class under the direction of Joyce Morman and Wayne Wilcoxson. Depicting a giant stairway leading to the stars, the float was pulled once around the field; thus, the last homecoming in the history of AHS was brought to a close, with Elaine and her court taking their places as the last of Auburn High School's homecoming royalty.

Managing the entire school district from Auburn, Ashley, and Waterloo gives Dr. James R. Watson, superintendent of schools, an enormous responsibility that he has handled capably.

Along with many detailed jobs concerning the new high school, Mr. Roger Hess, the assistant superintendent, was in charge of the school bus routes, thus necessitating him to dismiss school at various times during heavy winter snowfalls.

Being the Director of Special Services provides Mr. Charles A. Overmeyer with a variety of jobs. Included in these are making student teacher assignments, co-ordinating elementary education, being involved with the federal titles program, and organizing the special education classes.

mutual goal—dekalb high school

"Good morning, Auburn Red Devils" was the spirited greeting the students received each day as announcements were given by our principal, Mr. Tilson King.

Anxiously awaiting the opening of DeKalb High School, the School Board, consisting of William Mertz, Vice-President; Robert Dygert, Secretary; Robert Ball, President; Norman Rohm, Vice-President; and John Graham, Treasurer; have worked and planned for the moment when classes will assemble in the fall of 1967.

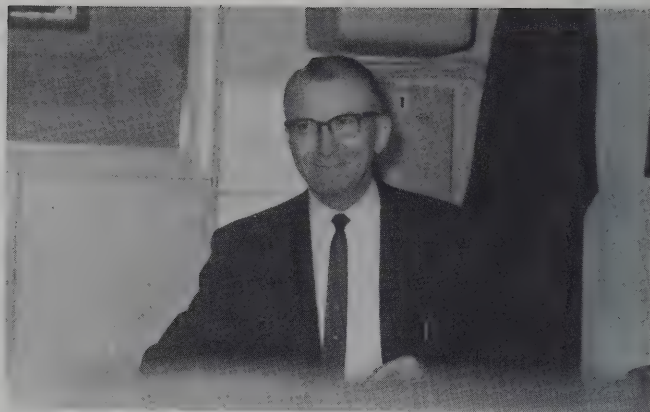

Towering at the head of the stairs before the afternoon classes take up, Mr. Dalen Showalter, the assistant principal, keeps a keen eye out for any prospective late arrivers to class.

honoring valuable helpers

Attendance Officer: Mr. Virgil Hagerty

Superintendent's Secretaries: Mrs. Carma-Jean Eckert, Mrs. Joanne Fitch, Mrs. Doris Metcalf, Mrs. Marilyn Gurtner, Mrs. Mona June Bacon.

Not often seen by high school students are the five secretaries of the superintendent. These ladies have kept themselves busy helping Dr. Watson take care of present school problems and prepare for the new DeKalb High School.

The main job of the attendance officer is to keep track of those students who are absent from school, but Mr. Hagerty often could be found taking students that got sick during the day to their homes.

The responsibility of transporting students that live outside the city limits falls on twelve school bus drivers. Our bus drivers often had to roll through knee-deep snow and mud in order to get students to and from school this past year.

Bus Drivers: FRONT ROW: P. Pine, C. Pomeroy, N. Gerig, R. Barnhart, J. Pepple. ROW 2: R. Metcalf, C. Friend, D. Goings, J. Linton, H. Metcalf. Not Shown: L. F. Mettert, Jr., J. Snyder.

Cleaning up after 672 high school students was the responsibility of four school employees. Even though the efforts of these people were not always witnessed by the student body, their presence was seen in the spic and span appearance of our school.

Secretaries in the guidance office, the assistant principal's office, and the principal's office aided their respective bosses and assisted the students.

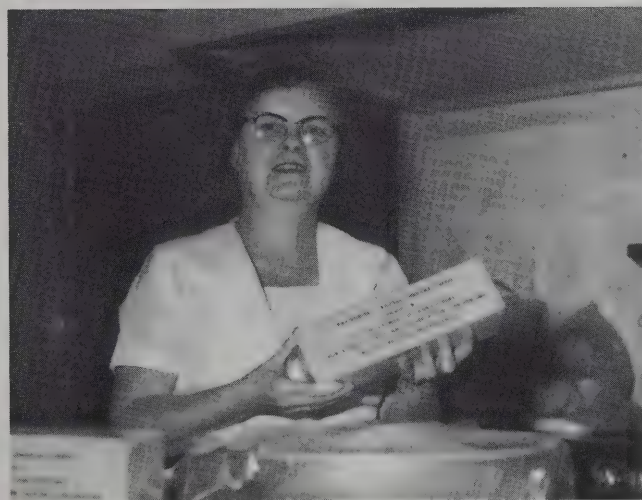

All sophomores and new students met Mrs. Sunday at different times during the year for routine tuberculin tests and hearing and eye examinations.

The cafeteria in the Harrison School provided nourishing food for empty, growling stomachs during the noon hour. Mrs. Dennis planned weekly menus with a balanced diet and a pleasing taste.

those who direct ahs sports

Assistant, reserve, and freshman coaches who prepared underclass students for future varsity participation were Gary Hilla-brand, Larry Davy, Mike Lord, Randall Steele, and Keith Leggett (absent).

Auburn High School's successful '66-'67 athletic year was due not only as a result of the hearty participation of the students, but also as a result of the guidance, encouragement, and enthusiasm displayed by the coaching staff.

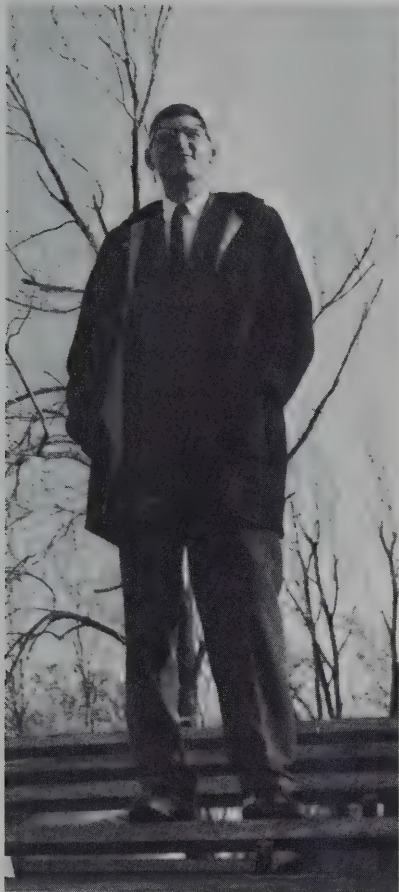

As athletic director, Dalen Showalter was kept busy throughout the entire year. He had contacted area schools and scheduled approximately 110 athletic contests. He was in control of the athletic budget and sale of tickets, including tourney tickets, for all events. Mr. Showalter obtained the officials and student-faculty workers for home contests. Supervision of home contests and representing the school at away varsity contests, along with providing transportation for the teams and fans to away games were also duties of the busy AHS athletic director.

Auburn High School's varsity sports include football, cross country, basketball, track, baseball, and golf.

harriers have winning season

Facing east and lined up on the track in front of the home bleachers, the harriers begin their race at the sound of the gun. Around the track they go and through the gate into Eckhart Park. After running through the park, the boys run a lap around the track, and exit again to the park. Having run through the park for the second time the boys return to the cinders. Quick sprints around the field lead the boys to the finish line, in front of the visitors' bleachers.

As the runners come in, they are given numbers designating their places in the race. Each team then totals its numbers and the low score wins.

Guiding the cross country team to success through a long, trying season was Coach Robert Voelkel.

Calisthenics, training for speed as well as for distance pays off as Senior Phil Myers comes in first in the two-mile run.

These loyal varsity cheerleaders injected the spirit needed to pull the Red Devils through both victory and defeat.

Spirit was their aim. Reserve cheerleaders, Ann Duncan and Sharon Brace, did a fine job in obtaining this goal.

spirit in action

Colleen Brace and Tina Opper led the many chants and cheers to spur the freshman Devils on to victory.

Two Auburn Devils show their rugged determination in successfully bringing down a husky Railroader.

In one of the more exciting plays of the game, agile Dave Cramer slips past a Railroader with some help from Gary Grogg (16) and a teammate.

auburn 26, garrett 19

Auburn led 13 to 0 in the second period until two plays by Garrett tied things up at 13 to 13. After receiving the kickoff, Auburn was forced to kick. Garrett drove to the Auburn 20 and attempted a field goal but failed. The Devils took over on their own 20-yard-line with 14 seconds remaining in the first half. Suddenly Gary Grogg threw a long pass to Tim Albert who lateraled it to Dave Cramer who put the Devils on the Garrett 30-yard-line. In the remaining two seconds of the first half, Grogg made a perfect pass to Ron Martin who scored for the Red and Black. The kick was no good, and the score was 19 to 13 at the half.

The Railroaders scored six points during the first part of the third period. The quarter ended, however, with Kenny Scott recovering a Garrett fumble putting Auburn on the Garrett 44. In the final period Gary Grogg made a 20-yard pass to Tim Albert to take Auburn to Garrett's 24. Dave Cramer scored the winning touchdown for the determined Red Devils. Rex Engle's kick was good, making it 26 to 19. Garrett then drove to the Auburn 38, but Terry Hornbacker intercepted a pass to secure the ball and a much-wanted victory for the Auburn Red Devils.

Rex Engle refuses to give in to the yell of "Block that kick!" as he gains that valuable extra point for the Red Devils.

pass, run, kick

Eleven returning lettermen and an enthusiastic coach led the red-black AHS gridders to a 4—4 seasonal record and third place in the NEIC standings.

The gridders' 1966 season began on the home field against a tough Huntington "No-Name" team. Auburn felt defeat for Huntington handed them a 28—7 decision in the opener.

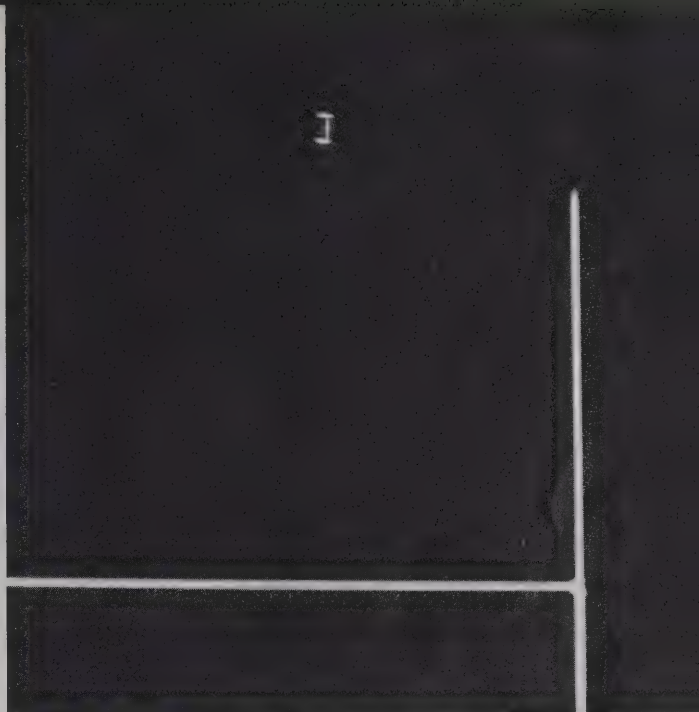

The experience gained in the first game proved valuable as the AHS Devils next won over Bluffton and Angola. In the final quarter Auburn bulled over the TD line to defeat the Bluffton Tigers 6—0. Dave Cramer scored with three TD's and Dave Mitchell followed up with two successful extra points for the Devils' second victory.

Using both their passes and Auburn's also, the Nappanee Bulldogs outscored the Red Devils by a close score of 21—14. The loss left Auburn with a record of 2—2 for the season.

Auburn's fifth game of the season proved to be too long as the Eagles of Columbia City defeated our gridders 28—3. But the bumps and bruises received in the game gave evidence of the determination of the red-black gridders.

Fort Wayne Snider was Auburn's next foe. The seasoned and undefeated Snider Panthers held Au-

lead to victory

burn scoreless most of the game, while tallying 42 points. The Panthers returned to the Summit City with a 49—7 victory.

The annual Auburn-Garrett grid battle was played on the rival's soil this year. The game was very exciting as the lead bounced back and forth but came to rest on the mighty shoulders of the AHS gridders as the Railroaders were defeated by a score of 26—19.

The Auburn Red Devils returned to home soil to host the East Noble Knights. The Devils started out strong with 12 points in the first quarter while holding East Noble scoreless. However, as the end drew near, Auburn was on the bottom 12—14, and anxious fans saw an exciting finish. East Noble's defense held Auburn at their 6-yard line, but in the final seconds of the game Dave Mitchell came through with a kick, giving the Devils a 15—14 lead as the final quarter ended.

The victory over East Noble was the last win for AHS. The scheduled Decatur game was cancelled due to excessive snow and other conflicts. The last season of Auburn High School ended with a 4—4 over-all record, and a 4—1 record for conference games, placing the red-black gridders third in the NEIC standings.

TEAMWORK! Chuck Smith (24) aids Gary Grogg (42) as Gary strives for more valuable yardage.

Jon Fahl (55) blocks the way to give Tom Fuller (21) a clear field. Dave Freeburn (58) is close by to help if needed.

Coach Gary Hillabrand calmly observes the ability of the reserve players on the field as their hours of practice result in victory.

reserve and frosh ability

Under the direction of Coach Gary Hillabrand, the reserves came out victorious in their first seven games. They defeated Angola (2), East Noble (2), Churubusco, Garrett, and Lakeland. But the reserve team also felt defeat as Columbia City handed them a loss in the last game of the season.

The experience gained by both the reserve and freshmen squads will be of value as they travel to the new school in the fall of '67.

Chuck Smith, junior, breaks through the tough defense of the opposing team to score for the Devils.

Despite plenty of enthusiasm and spirit, Coach Ned Schlosser's Devils ended the last Auburn High School basketball season with a disappointing 1 and 19 record.

In the opening game of the season, the Auburn Devils, with inexperience and first-game jitters, were handed a 68—37 loss by the Columbia City Eagles. Much the same story was encountered in the second game at Portland as the Panthers defeated the Devils 56—35. However, the Red and Black bounced back to secure their first victory over the Blazers at the Eastside gym, 49—46, in an overtime thriller. Exhausted by their previous night's victory, Auburn lost to Huntertown 60—35. Though the Devils lost to their rivals, the Garrett Railroaders, 62—48, they played one of their best games with Dan Kruse pushing through 19 points. After losing to the Churubusco Eagles 54—40, Auburn surprised everyone by playing a fabulous game against the East Noble Knights, only to lose 61—60 in a double overtime. The Devils traveled to the gym of the Angola Hornets eyeing a victory but came back with a 55—45 loss. In the Holiday Tournament at Columbia City, Auburn lost to the Eagles 67—45 in the afternoon game and were downed 49—41 by LaPorte in the consolation game. Before hitting the road for four straight games, the Devils bowed

hearted effort

Junior Bill Davidson successfully slips past a persistent guard of the opposing team to get in just the right position for scoring.

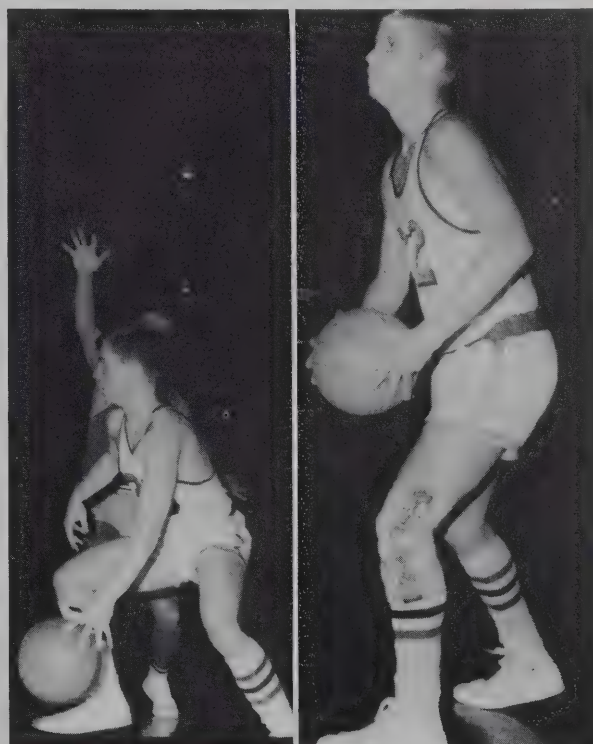

67—51 to Decatur in spite of 17 points scored by Tim Albert and 13 by Bill Davidson. Concordia downed the Devils 73—28. The Red and Black followed with a spirited attempt for a victory against Leo but were defeated 60—54. Tim Albert, Chuck Smith, and Dan Kruse all broke into double figures in that game. In the third road game the South Adams Starfires gave the Devils a 91—41 lacing. Due to bad weather the Bluffton game was postponed and the Red Devils waited a week before meeting Fort Wayne Snider, who led all the way to hand Auburn an 86—41 loss. A big North Side team proved to be too much for the Devils as they racked up an 87—29 victory over Auburn. In the re-scheduled Bluffton game Chuck Smith and Glen Stonestreet led the Devils in a strong effort to overcome the Tigers, but Bluffton came out on top 77—54. A much improved Auburn team played the Huntington Vikings and Albion Trojans coming out on the short end once more 52—38 and 72—63 respectively. The Auburn Devils traveled to Lakeland to end the regular season with a 68—32 defeat.

In the Sectional Tournament at East Noble, the Devils gave the Garrett Railroaders a rough time, but Garrett came out ahead 59—45 ousting Auburn from the tourney and ending the last Auburn Red Devil basketball season.

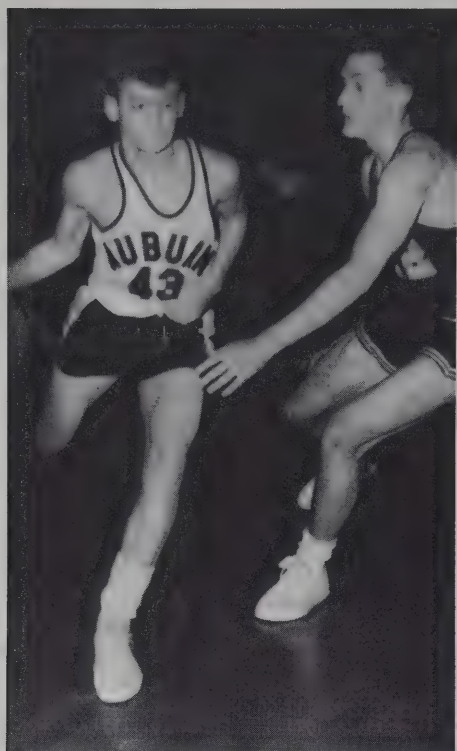

The boys listen closely for last minute instructions from Coach Schlosser before the game begins.

Kirk Carpenter (left) and Glenn Stonestreet (right) bring the ball down to the Auburn end of the floor and put it into play.

Behind the frown appearing on Coach Lord's face are words of encouragement and advice for the reserve team.

varsity participation

Although the reserve and freshman teams experienced seasons of being outscored, they were not defeated. Outscored teams are defeated only when they give up. Our teams never gave up. The mobility, alertness and total determination of the reserve and freshman teams provided their games with a great deal of competitive action. This type of action will be valuable as these boys soon enter varsity participation.

g.a.a. demons display spirited

The Girls' Athletic Association participated in various sports during the school year. Among the activities enjoyed were basketball, bowling, track, volleyball, swimming, gymnastics, and softball.

The G.A.A. Demons sponsored a WOWO record hop early in the year. The proceeds were used to purchase various attendance and skills awards. For each G.A.A. meeting attended, two points were given. Ten points were received for each successfully passed skill test. The awards were based on the accumulation of these points. Total points and the awards presented were as follows: 50 points, membership card; 150 points, G.A.A. pin and guard; 250 points, G.A.A. emblem for blazer; 350 points, state plaque; and 400 points, G.A.A. blazer.

Auburn High School's G.A.A. was represented at both the Girls' State Gymnastic Meet and the Girls' State Track Meet. Kathy Foley performed at the state gymnastic meet at Ball State University, while the Auburn G.A.A. track team attended the state track meet at Ball State University.

Along with control of the ball and good bowling form, the skill of keeping score is essential to the game of bowling. Keeping score for her bowling mates is Dorothy Wise.

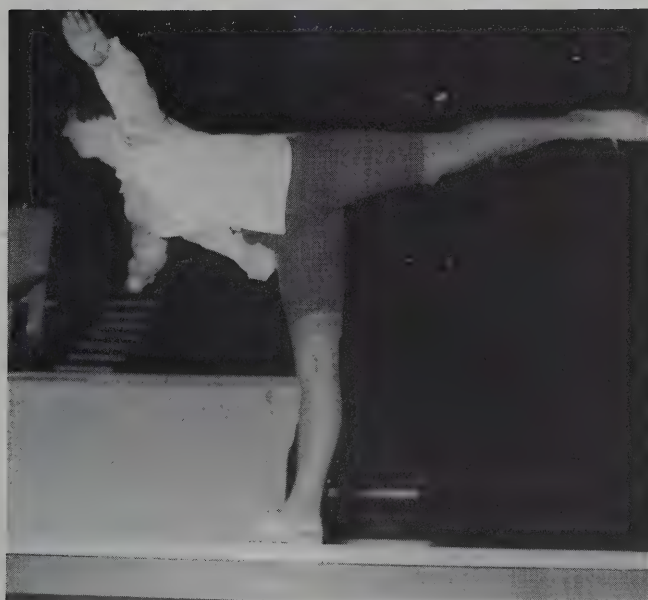

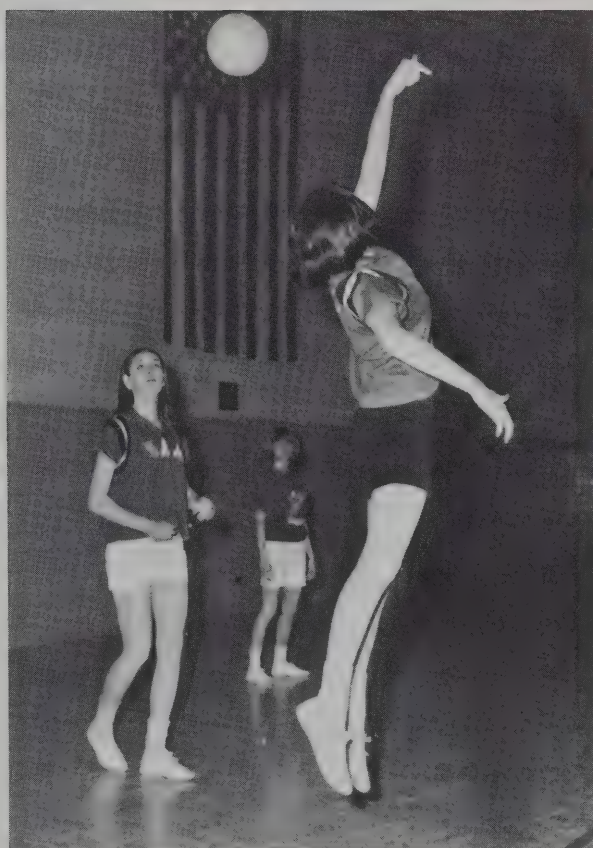

Mary Foley gets in position to take off for a practice sprint.

Just in case Barb Carper's swing misses the ball, Cindy Stebing is there to catch it.

Warming up for the pole vault event, Daryl Winebrenner concentrates on his steps and form.

seniors bow out: leave

Coach Voelkel, after observing the boys and studying the score-book, gives last-minute instructions before the meet.

Pat Mitchell's determination is apparent as he starts the two-mile run.

A last burst of speed puts Ken Scott in first place in the 220-yard dash.

High hurdler Mark Souder displays much-practiced form as he strives to defeat his opponent.

track to underclassmen

Tim Albert seems suspended in air before plunging into the sand during the broadjump event.

Larry Myers practices his technique for putting the shot.

Besides coaching the boys during the many matches, Mr. Wagner also enjoys playing along.

Varsity Golf: V. Sockrider, D. Mitchell, T. Cook, P. Kempf, R. Horsewood.

Coach Platt's Devils ended their regular baseball season with a record of six wins and three losses. It seemed to be touch and go for the home team as they rocked back and forth between victory and defeat for the first six games. The Red and Black gained much strength, however, and came back to win the last three games over East Noble, Decatur, and South Adams and to finish out the schedule.

Dave Swant slides into the bag as he expertly steals third base.

Coach Platt stands ready to present the football awards. Due to the consolidation the honored seniors received letters and chevrons, but the underclassmen received trophies. Later in the school year the underclassmen were presented the DeKalb jackets and letters which they earned.

Coach Schlosser congratulates the boys as he makes his way down the line of basketball participants.

Among those receiving cross country awards was Phil Myers.

Athletic Director Dalen Showalter presents the awards to the varsity cheerleaders. These girls kept the spirit of the fans going strong.

The three senior members of the varsity basketball team awaited the presentation of awards to their fellow teammates.

Red and black jerseys, red and white gloves, and pom poms added much variety and color to the Pep Club. Having priority over underclassmen, seniors were privileged to display their senior skirts in the front row of the cheering block.

Even though Pep Club members went through the season with red hands, sore throats, and crushed spirits, they could still be seen at the final game of Auburn High School with serious faces and tears in their eyes.

Letters won in track, football, basketball, baseball, golf, managing an athletic team, and cheer-leading represent diligent efforts and long hours of practice from athletic enthusiasts of AHS.

The Letterman's Club added an extra boost to the school spirit of AHS. Distributing food at Christmas time and collecting money for the March of Dimes were two of their contributions for the needy.

The letter jacket worn by Larry Myers, president of Letterman's Club, represents four years of after-school practice and hard-fought games.

The sound of AHS students voicing their opinions and offering new ideas could be heard at the Student Council meetings. The Student Council held its meetings every Tuesday for one hour.

Composed of student representatives from the homerooms and organizations in the high school, the Student Council plans activities and directs school elections.

As one of its main activities, the Student Council sponsored a basketball game between AHS faculty and the WOWO Aces of the Air on March 30. This was the Student Council's largest source of income.

Members of the Student Council donated $200 to the American Field Service to further support the Exchange Student Program. This year's Council continued the Foster Child's Program which gives financial aid to Tam Yat Ming.

Showing patriotism by raising the flag was the duty of the members of the Student Council. Also, each Monday morning a Student Council member led the student body in the Pledge of Allegiance.

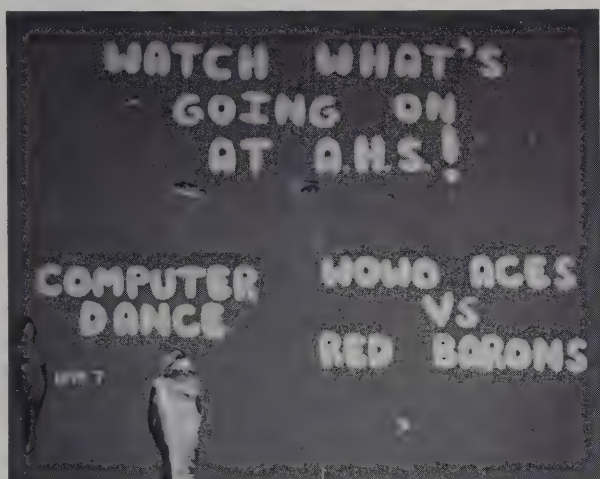

The Student Council's accomplishments helped to make Auburn High School's last year a successful one.

Following tradition, the Latin Club, under the supervision of Mrs. Voss, held its annual Latin Banquet on Saturday, April 1. A Roman wedding was used as the theme of the banquet. Entertainment consisted of a Roman oration, a gladiator fight, and a Roman dance.

The German Club was a new addition to the clubs of Auburn High School. Organized under the direction of Miss Norene VanWormer, the members consisted of first and second year German students as well as any students who had taken German in previous years.

As a form of initiation, the first year students were auctioned to the second year students. The masters then enjoyed the service of their slaves for a day.

Having German offered in the new school will arouse interest in a German Club next year.

Promoting interest in science and encouraging students to undertake a scientific project are the main objectives of the Science Club. Among its many activities was a field trip to the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago.

Students of AHS can be proud of the Science Club members, for they have done an outstanding job in bringing recognition to our school. Malinda Henning was named a winner in the Indiana State Talent Search and was one of the fifteen nationwide participants in the 1967 NASA Youth Science Congress. Carol Williams received a first prize in the County Science Fair and Mark Souder received a $100 Heart Grant. These students should be commended on their fine showing.

The Spanish Club had a very busy second year. Planning a Spanish Banquet to be held on May 5 was the highlight of the year. "El Viaje a Mexico", meaning a journey to Mexico, was the theme of the banquet.

Who? Where? When? Why? How? AHS students found the answers to all these questions in the school paper, the Devils' Journal. The DJ staff, an enthusiastic, hard-working group, did a tremendous job in informing students of the current school happenings.

The Devils' Journal was published every two weeks and was distributed on Fridays during the sixth period. The paper had something that would appeal to every AHS student. Among the interesting contents were stories concerning faculty, senior spotlights, sports news, and opinion polls.

Leadership, scholarship, service, and character are the qualities necessary for membership in the National Honor Society. Juniors and seniors eligible for selection must have maintained a scholarship level, beginning with the freshman year, of no semester grade below a B or a cumulative average of 3.15 with no grade below a C. After induction into the society, members must continue to maintain this grade average.

During the 66-67 school year ten seniors and eight juniors were inducted into Auburn's chapter of the National Honor Society. The induction ceremony was presented by eight senior members of the organization.

A tradition of the National Honor Society is to have junior members act as ushers at baccalaureate and commencement.

Membership in the National Honor Society, one of the highest honors available to high school students, is a challenge to the entire student body.

As the moment of graduation draws near, Dave Goodwin helps Susan Beard with the National Honor Society's pendant. It is an honor to graduate wearing this symbol of achievement.

"Speeches, speeches everywhere and all to be enjoyed." Active participation of the Speech Club was limited this year to a few special activities.

In November, for the Thanksgiving Assembly, the Speech Club presented a skit which represented Thanksgiving activities from the past to present day.

December 14, 1966, the club enjoyed the presentation of Taming of the Shrew at the Civic Theater in Fort Wayne. Springtime found, under the direction of Mr. Robert Seigel, the Speech Club engaged in the production of the all-school play, Onions in the Stew.

The Speech Club officers and adviser plan for future Speech Club meetings.

music blends in chords—rhythm

As the school year began fresh and new, so did the Chorus. The Chorus found the return of a former director, Mrs. Marcelle Voss.

Their first performance was during the November 23 Thanksgiving Assembly at which they sang, "Let There Be Light," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "Born to be Free."

The old familiar songs of Christmas were sung by the Chorus at the Christmas Assembly in the gym. The same songs were presented for radio on WOWO.

As the end of school neared, the Auburn and Waterloo Choruses presented a joint concert on April 20 and 21. The first concert was held in Waterloo and the second concert in Auburn.

Mrs. Marcelle Voss directs the chorus.

auburn red devil band

The high-stepping Red Devil Band performs in front of the judge's stand during the Saturday parade at the fair.

C. Williams, L. Davis, M. Grueter, K. Pulver, M. Harris, P. Beaty, J. Bruce, H. Webb, R. Blevins.

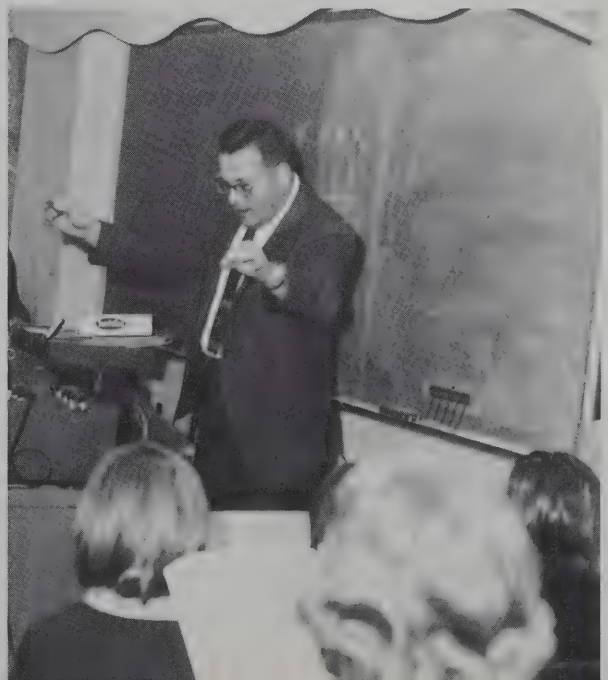

"Presenting the Auburn High School Marching Red Devil Band of 1966" were the words often heard at the football games when the band presented its half-time shows. During the football season, the Red Devil Band also participated in the DeKalb County Fall Fair. The band won first place over its old rival, Napoleon, Ohio, in the Saturday parade.

On November 15, the band had its annual Cabaret Concert at which some familiar songs were played.

In the second semester of school, the Auburn, Ashley, and Waterloo bands joined forces to give a concert on February 3. On April 15, the band received a superior rating at the NISBOVA State Music Contest at New Haven.

Mr. Richard J. Norris directs the band at the Cabaret Concert.

building personalities

The freshman year brought anticipation for the coming year as "greenies" ... meeting new people ... getting acquainted with AHS ... where is Room 306? ... initiation at the fair ... the first class meeting ... choosing class officers ... joining new clubs and organizations ... Sadie Hawkins Dance ... electing Becky Clement as Homecoming Attendant ... games and record hops ... big snowstorms with extra holidays ... the Computer Dance ... spring fever ... and, before it seemed possible, the first year was over.

sophomores lend their

Our year as "silly sophomores", no longer "greenies", brought anxieties for the coming year ... football games ... selecting Debbie Westland as our representative for Homecoming ... Sadie Hawkins Dance ... Pep Club practices and basketball games ... Christmas parties ... hoarse throats after yelling at the sectional ... getting our driver's licenses ... Easter vacation ... meeting people from Ashley and Waterloo at the Computer Dance ... the Canteen ... tests ... and finally May 29, and the joy of being upperclassmen was ours.

Like many other AHS students, Jon Fahl and Max Treesh played the various games at the fair.

Led by Bill Workman, vice-president; Beth Wertman, treasurer; Marianne Grueter, secretary; and Jim McIntyre, president; the Class of '69 is going places.

knowledge comes . . .

Our long awaited senior year had finally arrived. Senior Hall was ours! It seemed unbelievable that we were finally the oldest class in the building. We looked forward to our busiest year of high school. Among other activities, our senior year brought the fair . . . electing Jeanne as Miss Auburn . . . Janet as DAR Good Citizen . . . senior cords . . . the Garrett football victory . . . Elaine, Jeanne, and Leslie as Homecoming Attendants . . . filling out college applications . . . ordering announcements . . . Christmas vacation . . . "Festival of Lights" . . . big snows . . . sledding parties . . . Pete breaking his nose . . . name cards . . . class pins . . . being measured for caps and gowns . . . setting car-packing records . . . spring—rushing in and out . . . final exams . . . Awards Night . . . Baccalaureate . . . and—all too soon—Commencement. As we graduated, each senior had his own plans and hopes for the future, but we shall never forget our memories of the past four years as the last graduating class of AHS—the Class of 1967.

As one of the members of the Class of '67, Hannelore takes her turn to be measured for her cap and gown.

During the year, Hannelore was asked to present programs to many organizations around Auburn. She showed slides and gave information about her home.

On January 24, the American Field Service gave a reception at the Presbyterian Church in Hannelore's honor.

A ride on the merry-go-round—a typical fall fair occurrence! One of the highlights of our senior year was having Hannelore in our midst. She will never be forgotten by the Class of '67.

in parting . . .

lives of great men
all remind us
we can make our lives
sublime,
and,
departing,
leave behind us
footprints on the sands of time.
